THE BROADWAY WIDENING JOB.

A Policeman's Misconduct Out of Uniform.

FIXING REFEREES' FEES.

The Broadway widening job assumed a new phase in the courts yesterday, having come up on an applica-tion on behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Common alty to open and vacate a taxation of costs made over six years ago, which application was made before Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court, Chambers. The proceeding is but one form of a public litigation which n many phases has occupied the courts for years past. The motion is made on the general ground that the bill of costs is largely excessive of the amount allowed by law, and from that fact the inference is drawn that taxation at the excessive amount was the result of collusion between the then Corporation Counsel, Mr. O'Gorman, Comptroller Connolly and the Commissioners. The Corporation Counsel took no appeal from the taxation, and it was subsequently confirmed, specially, by an act of the Legislature, the assessments imposed on the basis of it and the amount collected juto the city treasury. About a year ago a direct suit was commenced by the present Corporation Counsel to have the taxation set aside and a temporary injunction granted. This injunction was, on motion of the Com-missioners, dissolved by Judge Donohue. From his decision an appeal was taken to the General Term, where it was confirmed. Thence an appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals, but never argued. A suit was next commenced on the part of the Commissioners to enforce payment by the city.

When this suit was on the calendar and about to be reached for trial the present motion was brought forward. It is made on allegations contained in the complaint on behalf of the city, and on affidavits made by Comptroller Kelly, Richard Amerman, Edward O. H. Jervis and Henry W. Wheeler, on which an order to show cause was granted by Judge Barrett. The substance of these affidavits is that the Commissioners claimed the enormous sum of $165,632 40, which claim at the time of taxation was unsupported by amdavit that such expenses were actually incurred or amdavit that such expenses were actually incurred or necessary, as required by the rules of court; that, nevertheless, the buil was taxed by Judge Cardozo; that under the act to prevent frauds in laying out streets the Commissioners were entitled, irrespective of necessary disbursements, to but thirty cents per lineal loot of the street improved; that in violation of this statute the Commissioners charged for their services $42,000, or $29,765 30 of an overcharge; that the law allowed $1 per day for room rent actually paid and other necessary expenses, not exceeding $100, but in excess thereof they charged and had allowed the enormous sum of $25,543, together with $8,761 40 for stationery; that there is charged for surveys, rule maps, &c., the enormous item of $56,619 95 over and above the alleged cost of the abstracts, and without distinguishing what portion thereof would rule maps, &c., the enormous item of $56,619 ob over and above the alleged cost of the abstracts, and without distinguishing what portion thereof would have been a reasonable and just charge for the mere making of magrams, as commanded in the statute; that the charge for maps is frauduient and extravagint, and there has been charged for the number of lineal feet in each of the maps the sum of the boundaries of each and every lot; thus, in the case of continuous lots, counting identical boundary lines twice; that the $500 allowed for room tent was never actually paid; that there was also paid to Joseph C. Skaden, Daniel O'Conor, Bernard Smyth and John Scott, as appraisers, the sum of $16,000; that at the time of such service as appraisers one of them (Skaden) was an old man about seventy-seven years of age, who had been engaged in the brush, bristle and beliews business in this city, in copartnership with William M. Tweed and Daniel Berrian, up to 1805, and without knowledge of real estate as an expert. Bernard Smyth was the receiver of taxes in this city, John Scott a justice of a District Court and Daniel O'Conor a retired misson; none of them except Smyth being competent as appraisers of real estate. The affidavits further allege that none of the items specified in the bill of costs and charges have been actually paid by the Commissioners, and the entire necessary disbursements properly incident to the proceedings for the proper discharge of the duties assumed by the Commissioners in the proceeding would not have exceeded the sum of $25,000; making of duagrams, as commanded in the statute; that the charge for maps is traudient and extravagent, and there has been charged for the number of lineal feet in each of the maps the sum of the boundary incomes of each and every lot; thus, in the case of continuous lots, counting identical boundary lines is twice; that the $500 allowed for room tent was never actually paid; that there was also paid to Joseph C. Skaden, Daniel O'Conor, Bernard Smyth and John Scott, as appraisers, the sum of $16,000; that at the time of such service as appraisers one of them (Skaden) was an old man about seventy-seven years of age, who had been engaged in the brush, bristle and bellows business in this city, in copartnership with William M. Tweed and Daniel Berrain, up to 1865, and without knowledge of real estate as an expert. Bernard Smyth was the receiver of taxes in this city, John Scott a justice of a District Court and Daniel O'Conor a retired misson; none of them except Smyth being conjudent as appraisers of real estate. The affidavits further allege that none of the Items specified in the bill of costs and charges have been actually paid by the Commissioners in the projecteding would not have exceeded the sum of $25,000; and the entire necessary disbursements projectly located in the bill of costs and charges have been actually paid by the Commissioners were that taxinton of the excessive bill was procured unlawfally and by neglect of duty on the part of the thermotion and contradicted the sum of $25,000; in boats. Recently the detectives that taxinton of the excessive bill was procured unlawfally and by neglect of duty on the part of the thermotion and contradicted the part of part of the commissioners were equally voluminous as those used on behalf of the motion and contradicted and an ending of the duty of the excessive bill was procured unlawfally and the contradicted of the commissioners were equally voluminous as those used on behalf of the motion and contradicted and prior to the taxino of the excessive bill was and it was accepted by the Bar as correct, that the act of 1862 appined only to the tormal opening of streets laid down on the map of 1807, and not to new streets opened under special acts of the Legislature and not laid down on that map; that upon the motion to confirm the report of the Commissioners in the second proceeding for opening Broadway, which report included the bill in question, and also the bill of costs of the second Commission in the assessment made by it the Corporation Counsel objected to the second bill of costs because it was excessive under the act of 1892, and the Court overried the objection and held that that act did not apply to this proceeding. Numerous other cases, subsequent to the taxation of this bill, were reserred to, in which the Court adopted the same rule. From these mates it was urged that a failure to follow the act of 1862 was no evidence of fraud or even of negligence, but merely showed that the then accepted chastraction of the act of 1862, sanctioned by repeated adjudications, had been followed, and it their construction was incorrect only error and not fraud was proven. Mr. Allisen further contended that the set of 1871, which authorized the Court to set aside the first Brondway proceeding in which this bill was laxed and to institute a second Broadway proceeding was, in terms, a fegislative ratification of this bill of costs as it stands; that the act in terms provided that this was not a mere direction to pay the costs at their legal amount under the act of 1862, but was a direction to pay the bill as taxed.

Corporation Counsel Whitney, in reply, contended that all they asked was the opening of the taxation and leave to go before a reserve and take testimony as to the lawfulness, correctness and honessy of the rianges. It on such reference the city could show fraud and excess in making these charges it would then be lor the Court to take such action as might seem proper and it felt authorized to take. It could not have been reasonably intended by the Legislature in pa ineal foot.

At this point of the argument Judge Barrett inquired from Mr. Whitney if all asked by him then was the appointment of a referee to take testimony as to the alleged excessive and unauthorized charges.

Mr. Whitney replied that he would be satisfied with that, and thereupon the Judge granted that part of the motion, leaving the question of readjusting the costs to be determined at some subsequent time.

DOCTOR GOURAUD'S ESTATE.

The case of Andreas R. Gourand against Constance C. Trust and others came before Judge J. F. Daly, in the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday, on a motion to continue an injunction heretofore granted against Martha B. F. Gourand claiming to be the widow of Dr. Trust Folix Gouraud, lately deceased. The injunction was to restrain her from disposing of the propaffidavits read by Mr. William H. Waring in opposition to the motion are, in substance, that Dr. Gouraud was married at St. James' Parish Church, London, March 19, 1827, to one Eliza Southworth, who subsequently Ig red conspicuously before the public as a danseuse, ander the name of Mrne. Celestie, on the boards of the Old Park and Bowery Theatres years ago. She also Did Park and Bowery Theatres years ago. She also kept the City Salcon ball rooms, over Barnam's bid Museum, about 1852. She having separated from Frust he subscipantly lived with one Mary F Grew, as the papers allege, by whom he had several shridren, among whom is the plantiff in this suit. This this second companion having likewise abactoned him, he was married in January, 1861, to Martha B. Tompkins, but also and he believing that the Bist wife, Eliza Southworth, was dead. Subsequent to this last marriage Eliza appeared and claimed her marital rights, and upon her death, which occurred November 9, 1865, he remarried his present widow, who claims and holds all his property under conveyances made prior to his death and a will now offered for probate before Surrogate Caivin. The papers of which the foregoing were opposed, have already appeared in the HERALD, and along a marriage to have aken place between the mother of plaintid and the loceaned Doctor. After argument on the facts, as presented in the affidays, the matter was laid over 100 limits, to procure rebutting textimony.

CONDUCT UNBECOMING AN OFFICER.

conduct unbecoming an officer. The conduct conconsisted, as was alleged, of enticing a girl named Mabel Avery from the stoop of a house in Houston street to a house of assignation. From the decision of the Commissioners an appeal was taken by writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court, General Term, where it was argued yesterday by Mr. Wilham F. Howe on the part of the officer and Mr. Charles F. MacLean on the part of the Police Commissioners. Mr. Howe, in his argument, contended that the officer, being off duty missioners for an alleged offence over which they clearly had no jurisdiction. If the officer had com-mitted any offence at all it was merely an offence against morality. It appeared that the girl went voluntarily; that there was no proof that the house to which they went was a house of assignation; that no offence had been proven against him which rendered him liable to dismissal, and the judgment of the Police Commissioners should be reversed and the officer reinstated.

Mr. MacLean argued, in opposition, that the trial was had after written charges made against the relator and his appearance for trial, and upon the taking of testimony and due deliberation he was dismissed; that the Board had jurisdiction, the proceedings were regular, no error was committed and the judgment could not be disturbed. The whole charge and specification were to be taken together, and it plainly appeared therefrom that he was charged, if not with conduct injurious to the public peace and welfare, certainly with immoral conduct and conduct unbecoming an officer. A wide discretion was given, most properly, to the Board in considering the conduct of policemen and the propriety of their removal from of fice, and for that purpose the Legislature has adopted the military phrase, "Conduct unbecoming an officer," and given to the Board authority to determine what is such conduct. The substance of the charge—improper conduct—he further contended, was fully made out. It was entirely immaterial whether the girl was of good character or bad. Whether she went with him willingly or not, it was persectly clear that he induced her to go with him. The writ, therefore, he concluded, should be quashed, with costs. The girl's testimony was that she went with the officer on his pretence to get her a situation. Decision was reserved. reinstated. MacLean argued, in opposition, that the trial was

THE HACKLEY CONTRACT. Judge J. F. Daly was yesterday asked to remove ex-Judge Leonard, the referee appointed to take testimony in the oid Hackley contract case, on the ground that he had demanded a fee of $5 an hour, which was in excess of the statutory fee. It was stated that one party had offered to give this sum, but the other side refused. Mr. Bartlett, in support of the motion, said it would be improper to go on with the case under such circumstances. He cited several authorities going to show stances. He cited several authorities going to show that the courts had favored the rule not to give extra fees to jurors or judicial officers, insmuch as it tended to prejudice their judgment in the case. Judge Daly said that there ought to be no difficulty in this case, as the referree in any event could only recover his statutory fees. Mr. Burtlett contended, however, that the offer of a larger sum by the other side ingult tend to influence the mind of the referree to some extent, and suggested the propriety of his removal. After a short argument in opposition Judge Daly concluded to reserve his decision in the matter.

James Clarke was yesterday committed on a charge of stealing five pigs of lead from the steamboat Erastus Corning on the 20th of last August on Long Island

OUEENS COUNTY TAXES.

The taxpayers of Queens county will gather little comfort from the recent action of the Board of Super visors, rendered necessary by the inability of the town collectors to raise the amounts levied upon their respective towns. There was a deficiency of State taxes to the amount of $90,000 in 1875, and the Supervisors or the amount of $90,000 in 1875, and the Supervisors authorized the County Treasurer to raise that amount upon his hote, running one year, with interest, the taxes being back taxes still uncollected. Of these back taxes only $20,000 have since been collected, leaving $70,000 still due. The Treasurer's note for $90,000 ieil due on the List inst., and there being no other way out of the difficulty the Treasurer was authorized to raise the requisite $70,000 in the same manner to cancel the first note. At the same meeting, the State tax for 1876 being due, it was nanounced that there was argain an arrearage of $90,000, and the County Treasurer was authorized to raise that amount, making $100,000 in all, to be levice pro raise upon all the towns.

JOHN SPIELMAN ACQUITTED.

THE DEATH OF CALER DELOS WEEKS STILL UNAVENGED-END OF THE TRIAL BEFORE JUDGE SUTHERLAND.

The trial of John Spielman, who was charged with having killed Caleb Delos Weeks in the lager beer saloon of John Muneschau, No. 1,890 Third avenue, on the night of the 10th of September last, was resumed yesterday before Judge Sutherland, in the Court of General Sessions. On behalf of the prisoner Mr. William F. Kintzing examined Katherine Muneschau, wite of the proprietor, who corroborated the evidence of her husband as to the details of the tragedy, setting forth the fact that Weeks commen the fighting which terminated in his death, the Kinizing then placed the prisoner on the witness stand and he swore that Weeks had knocked him down twice; that when he had him on the floor he (Weeks) planted his knee on his breast and pounded him until ne was almost unconscious; when lying on the ground he heard the expression, "Fog God's sake don't kill him, Mr. Weeks," and believing his life was in danger he did the stabbing. At the close of the defeace Mr. Herring by way of rebuttal examined a very bright lad named Joseph twens. He said he was a newsboy and supported his mother by selling papers; on the night of the occurrence he was returning from a wate, and in passing Muneschau's saloon looked in through the half closed door, having been attracted to the premises by the fracas. He testified that he saw Muneschau holding Weeks in his arms, and that while he was in a reclining position the prisoner made a thrust at him as if in the act of stabbing him, altihough from his position he could not see a weapon. Mr. Kinizing subjected the boy to a searching cross-examination, but the little fellow reiterated his previous statement without any material discrepancy. Officer Pretel, in response to Mr. Herring, testified that he saw the boy at the bedside of Weeks after the stabbing had occurred, and thus corroborated his statement that he scraped the lint for the wounds inflicted on Weeks. Matthew Mone was recalled, and in answer to Mr. Herring testified that who had not seen a weapon at the testing of the deceased as to the expressions made use of by the prisoner the case closed. Mr. Kintzing, in the course of his address, submitted with great emphasis that no alternative was left to Spielman, under the circumstances of the desperate assault made upon him, but to protect himself, as the law justified him in doing. He commented with great force upon the fact that the prisoner and his friend were quietly enjoying themselves when the assault was made by the deceased, and he warned the jury that a very effective and eloquent argument to rike prosecution, and while complimenting the prisoner's counsel for his able and ingenious defence, characterized the homicide as a willi, unjustifiable and cold-blooded assassination. He called upon the jury to be mindful of their duty to the people at large in rendering their verdic he heard the expression, "For God's sake don't kill him,

THE KELSEY MURDER.

A resident of Huntington, prominently known as a statement to a reporter yesterday which is in any case suspicious, as coming from one in sympathy with those who admit and seek to justify the commission of a barbarous outrage on Kelsey, and only deny the of a barbarous outrage on Kelsey, and only deny the mutilation and murder of that unfortunate young man because it might bring their necks in contact with the hangman's haiter. The statement of this person is that in one respect the untimely death of Dr. C. Graham Blanley was to be regarded as unfortunate. Investigation, he said, had established at least a very strong impression that he could have revealed the identity of the legs found in Oyster Bay Harbor, identified as those of Charles G. Kelsey. Considering the number of years that elapsed from the Kelsey outrage to the death of Dr. Stanley this statement is certainly of the flimsiest character.

THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE,

The annual meeting of the members of the Produce Exchange was held yesterday. Mr. L. N. Stark, the President, took the chair, and in the course of his address referred to the wisdom of the sentiments ex-pressed in the recent letter of ex-Speaker Raudall, and quoted the following sentence:-"The time has come, quoted the following sentence:—"The time has come, in my opinion, when the policy of the government should be to encourage our trade relations with Mexico and with the South American States." Mr. Stark, in commonting on this, said that the public documents show that the foreign commerce of the countries lying south of the United States on the American Continent is $520,000,000; our share of this is about $12,000,000, and only about $37,000,000 is transported in American vessels, and under the American flag. It only needed that statement, he hoped, to arouse the American people from their lottargy. In reference to the canals, Mr. Stark said that it should ever be borne in mind that New York, like the city of Amsterdam. Is indebted to her canals for a great portion of her wealth and greatness. Recently their management has been as bad as partisan politics could make them. Their capacity has not been utilized and their expenditures have been profligate. The vital question to us and the people at large, How to rescue them and how to obtain from them the largest transportation of commodities at the maximum of speed and the minimum of cost, has been intile regarded. But we are happy in the belief that the time has come when these great requisites, cheapness and swiftness of transportation, are to receive their due consideration. The people will be most agreeably surprised at the sum which will be found requisite for this purpose.

After a vote of thanks to the President the meeting adjourned. in my opinion, when the policy of the government

THE FINANCE BILL.

Thirteen democrats in the Board of Aldermen yeserday voted in lavor of a resolution offered by Mr. Joyce requesting the Governor to veto the Finance Joyce requesting the Governor to veto the Finance bill, which was passed at the closing hours of the Legislature. Eight republicans voted against the resolution. The principal objection made to this bill is the effect which will result from section 7, compelling each contractor bidding for city work to deposit with the Comptroller a certified check for five per cent of the amount of his contract. It is contended that this clause would enable wealthy contractors to combine so as to monopolize public work at their own figures.

bine so as to monopolize public work of a figures.

Alderman Cowing argued that the bill was passed in the interest of the texpayers, being originally layored by democrats. He hoped the Governor would consequently affect his signature to it. The resolution will be forwarded to Governor Robinson as soon as it is signed by Mayor Ely.

CITY RAILROAD OBSTRUCTIONS.

Attempts are frequently made by citizens to induce he Board of Aldermen to probibit the city railroad companies from encumbering the streets; but such atempts generally prove entirely abortive.

At yesterday's meeting Alderman Sauer presented a resolution relating to this subject, which, contrary to resolution relating to this subject, which, contrary to the usual practice, was adopted. The resolution pro-vides that the Twenty-third street line be prombited from using the sidewalk at the foot of Thirty-fourth street in changing horses, and also at Elm street, Alderman Pinckney offered an amendment, which would also probabit the railroad companies from run-ning their cars in front of the Harath office. Alderman Howland stated that a resolution had been ning their cars in front of the Heratho office.

Aiderman Howland stated that a resolution had been passed some time since containing this provision. A temporary injunction had been obtained by the railroad companies restraining the city from interiering with their tracks in front of the Heratho office. This injunction was made permanent through sheer negligence on the part of the late Corporation Counsel.

The resolution of Aiderman Sauer was passed by a unanimous vote.

THE TRIED AVENUE JOB.

The application of the Third Avenue Railroad Company to run cars by noiseless steam engines over their route was resterday referred to the Railroad Committee of the Board of Aidermen.

condition of the pavement in Fourisenth street. On motion of Alderman Lewis, the Commissioner of Public Works has been directed to pave this thoroughfare between Fifth and Ninth avenues.

Authority has been given for establishing a ferry from foot of Whitchall street to Bay Ridge.

The local statesmen were again disappointed yesterday by the Mayor's neglect to send in names for vacancies in the Police and Park departments.

The Commissioner of Public Works has been requested to send into the Aldermen his opinion of dispensing with the reservoir at Forty-second street.

Invitations were yostorday extended from General Shaler and the veterans of the Mexican war to review to-day's procession from Twenty-sixth street.
